— Notitiae Siciliensium Ecclesiarum ... Accessit ... brevis Regum Siciliae chronologia. 2 pt. Panormi, 1630-33. 4°. 491. k. 9.

This is the first edition of the work which was reissued in 1644 under the title of "Sicilia Sacra," and continued under that title. The "Chronologia Regum" occupies pp. 1-34, which pages in the second edition are occupied with matter which is wanting here. The "Chronologia" attached to that edition is a distinct work from this.

— *Sicilia Sacra, disquisitionibus et notitiis illustrata. Ubi libris quatuor ... a Christianae Religionis exordio ad nostra vsque tempora cujusque praesulatus ... institutio, archiepiscopi, episcopi, abbates, priores, singulorum jura ... explicantur ... (1.); 664. d. 2.; 662. k. 3, 4.

Vol. 1 is in two parts, but with continuous pagination. Vol. 1 pt. 1 and vol. 4 only are of the second edition. Vol. 1, 2 and 3 were published at Palermo, vol. 3 being printed at Salerno, and vol. 4 at Catania. Vol. 3 pt. 2 was left imperfect at the end by the death of the author; but vol. 4, by V. M. Amico, takes up the work at this point. This copy is imperfect, wanting the printed title to vol. 2, the place of which has been supplied with an engraved title bearing the words: "Notitiae Siciliensium ecclesiarum Abbate ... R. Pirro auctore;" wanting also a list of errata forming the last page to vol. 1.

ARRANGEMENT.

Plutarch's Collected Works stand first, followed by "Moralia" (a term used to include everything except the "Vitæ Parallelæ"), Separate Works in alphabetical order, Fragments, Selections, Supposititious Works, and Appendix.

The arrangement of each of these divisions (except the Appendix) is according to language, the sequence adopted being as follows: Greek, Polyglott (preference being given to combinations in which the original Greek occurs), Latin, English, followed by the other languages in alphabetical order.

The arrangement of the individual entries is chronological, complete works in each case preceding portions of the same. In the Appendix the arrangement is alphabetical.
